

KRIS SINGER (THEY/THEM)

LICENSED MASTER SOCIAL WORKER (LMSW)

AT A GLANCE

I am a licensed social worker, therapist, and educator whose career spans both the corporate and nonprofit worlds. Before clinical practice, I spent more than 15 years leading advertising partnerships, including executive roles supporting Fortune 500 companies, while building inclusive company cultures and advancing equity. Today, gender, sexuality, and LGBTQ+ wellbeing sit at the center of my practice, which reaches individuals, families, schools, and organizations through therapy, consultation, and training. Grounded in social justice, psychodynamic theory, and trauma-informed practice, I believe what we call symptoms are often adaptations to an environment, so my role isn't simply to treat what's visible, but to understand the larger story and support exploration.
